User's Conference Now on Video

By Elizabeth Starkey

Thursday, November 2nd, 2006 at 12:30pm

I am pleased to present my first major project for Hannon Hill: video documentation of our recent User's Conference. The videos are available in both Flash and QuickTime format and can be viewed on the Hannon Hill Knowledge Base. If you missed the Users conference, the videos provide a great opportunity to learn more about Cascade Server. If you did attend the conference, you can relive the experience again and again via your web browser.

Currently, our video inventory includes the following:

Advanced XSL Training Parts 1 - 4 These videos, hosted by Sean Sawyer, cover advanced techniques through the example scenario of constructing an intranet for XML Cafe. Topics include alphabetizing, grouping, search and replace, and emulating a while loop.

Client Spotlight Parts 1 - 4 Amy Liu discusses Cascade Server in relation to our client, Servigistics. This session is great for Cascade beginners, because it breaks down and describes the main elements of the software.

Getting the Most out of 4.x Parts 1 - 3 David Klanac presents the latest features of Cascade Server. These videos touch on the new site wizard, bulk change, and the visual workflow builder, among other topics.

Roundtable Parts 1 - 4 Brandeis University, Beacon Technologies, and Silverpop Systems participated in our panel on Cascade. They had some excellent insights to share, and we're very pleased to present such genuinely positive feedback from our clients.

Using Web Services with Cascade Server Parts 1 - 3 Collin Van Dyck leads this very technical and informative presentation, putting web services into perspective through a demo application. And as an extra bonus...

Search Engine Marketing Panel Parts 1 - 4
This knowledgeable panel, which was hosted by David Cummings at Macquarium about a week after the User's Conference, describes some very interesting and useful information for more effective marketing for search engines. There will be plenty of additional videos available very soon. Most notably, Emily and Brock are hosting video versions of the current Cascade Server Business and Technical Intros. I would love to hear your feedback on the videos and your suggestions for future productions. I'll see you on the other side of the camera...
