In our commitment to make your experience at the 2008 Cascade Server User's Conference even more enjoyable, we have created a form that allows attendees to build their own conference session schedule. This conference session sign-up enables you to view scheduled sessions by day and time, and select which session appeals to you most in each time frame. Now you can customize your schedule based on your knowledge and interests in our product, without being limited to only one track, business or technical -- yet another great reason to attend this year's conference!

Register now, and check out our session offerings to begin personalizing your conference schedule. Don't forget that the last day to register for the conference is July 15, and accommodations are limited, so be sure to secure your spot early!

Note - Choosing your conference schedule does NOT automatically register you for the conference. Attendees must register in order to attend; schedules submitted without registration will be disregarded.
