Technology Tip How do I translate SuperUpdate for non-English speaking clients? We assume you already have SuperUpdate 2.5 or newer installed and running and are familiar with the application. The process is as follows: 1. Make a copy of `app_superupdate/lang/en.txt` and name it your language code followed by `.txt` in the same directory. For example, if you are translating it into Norwegian (country code "no") you would create a copy of `en.txt` as `no.txt`. 2. In the new file, only translate the items that are not in all capital letters. For example in the following: `define("STRING_SAVE_SPECIFIC_FILE", "Save file FILENAME");` You would only translate the two words "Save file". You should not translate FILENAME as it is replaced with the specific file being worked on. Only translate items between the two right double quotes (") and do not add any additional double quotes. 3. Edit the file `app_superupdate/admin/languages.php` and add your specific language. For example if I have the following: `$available_languages = array('en' => 'English', 'es' => 'Spanish');` and I wanted to add Norwegian to it I would change it as follows: `$available_languages = array('no' => 'Norwegian', 'en' => 'English', 'es' => 'Spanish');` You should copy and paste the first line then change the first value to the two letter language code and the second value to the language name. 4. Go to the directory `superupdate/su/lang_images/` and rename it to your two digit letter code. For example, to add support for Norwegian, the directory would be renamed to: `superupdate/su/no/` (If the `superupdate/su/lang_images/` does not exist, please download the latest version of SuperUpdate.) This directory can contain language specific images. By distribution, the default `lang_images` directory contains the images with icons but no text so as to not be confusing. 5. The last step is optional. If you would like the default language of all sites to be your specific language open `app_superupdate/admin/_config.php`

and do a text search for: `define("LANG"` This is the default language for the entire product. Change this to your specific value. For example `define("LANG", "en");` would become `define("LANG", "no");` About Hannon Hill Corporation Based in Atlanta, Georgia, Hannon Hill Corporation develops award-winning content management software for small to medium-sized businesses.
