Cascade Server Wins Best of Show Award

SAN JOSE - APRIL 18, 2003 - Hannon Hill's Cascade Server software won the coveted "Best of Show" award at the Internet World Essentials trade show in San Jose, California on April 16th, 2003. The award was given for the best content management system as voted on by the Internet World Magazine writers. For more information about the award, visit the Internet World website at www.iw.com.

The Internet World Essentials show provided many technology companies in Silicon Valley an opportunity to view a live demo of Cascade Server. Hannon Hill CEO, David Cummings said, "Response to Cascade Server was tremendous. Not only did the writers at Internet World rave about Cascade Server, but many companies attending the show also cited the favorable user experience, low price point, and extensive feature set of the software."

Some highlights of the new enterprise-class product include the ability to transform a single piece of content into multiple formats including HTML, printer friendly HTML, PDF, and WML. Users also learned about Cascade Server's ability to automatically generate navigation menus, FAQ pages, and sitemaps through the use of XML index blocks.

David Cummings was also interviewed about Cascade Server for the popular technology radio show, GeekSpeak. Look for this radio segment to air during the month of May at GeekSpeak.com.

Visit Hannon Hill's website (<http://www.hannonhill.com/>) for more information about Cascade Server. The website includes a flash demo of Cascade Server in action and additional information about how enterprise content management can help streamline your content publishing process.
