User's Conference Updates

Wednesday, June 11th, 2008 at 2:30pm -- Uran Piedra

We promised that this year's Cascade Server User's Conference would be packed with even more great sessions than last year, and we are well on our way to ensuring that this is the best User's Conference to date.

We have a lot of great sessions lined up, but are still looking for your input and proposals for the business-track of this year's conference. If your organization has accomplished great things with Cascade and end-user involvement, let us know! Speakers receive free conference admission, so if you are interested in presenting at the conference, be sure to submit a proposal.

I know many of you are anxious to see what's in store for this year's conference, and I'm pleased to tell you that we will have the finalized schedule, including session descriptions, posted on Monday, June 16th, so be sure to check back on our conference page for details.

All attendees of the conference will be receiving an email inviting you to join a shared attendees list, which will enable you to get to know and communicate with other attendees prior to the conference. Participation in this shared list will also provide you with up-to-date information on the conference, including our coveted Atlanta Destination Guide.

Please don't forget that the registration deadline for this year's Cascade User's Conference is July 15th, and accommodations are limited, so make sure to register for the conference now and secure your spot!
